MESSAGE FROM THE HON. PETER ELZINGA

I am pleased to present the 1989-90 Annual Review of the Alberta Agency for International Development (AAID).

The work of countless dedicated Alberta volunteers over the past twenty years has succeeded in making "international development" a strong and meaningful part of the value system of hundreds of thousands of Alberta citizens. This was vividly underlined for me during a luncheon meeting I hosted in late May of this year for representatives of 62 Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs). Not only were these delegates themselves a microcosm of the broadest possible cross-section of Alberta society, they also demonstrated a thoroughly mature and educated understanding of our world in the late twentieth century and of the role of international development in that world. The presentations and discussions ranged from the importance of the AAID program (both at home and abroad), to the third world debt crisis, to the linkage between aid and trade, to international structural adjustment, development education and the global environment.

The Government of Alberta has strongly supported the international work of our NGO community. In the year for which the following pages provide detailed information, a total of 168 international development projects received government financial support. These projects were implemented in 54 less developed countries and were managed by 70 NGOs. In total, $1,997,797.00 was provided to support these projects.

I trust the information contained in these pages will be helpful to the NGOs and their supporters across our Province.

Peter

Peter Elzinga
Minister
